Music4Me.com's goal is to connect musicians and labels and give them all they need to maximize their revenue from a sales or streaming service. We focus on acts and indie labels, working with major labels on. A high-temperature thermal recording material based on bismuth vanadate (BV), molybdenum vanadate (MoV) and antimony vanadate (SbV) has been prepared by the calcination method. These materials exhibit high thermal sensitivity by the use of vanadium and halogen as materials in the sensing layer. The sensitivity of BV-MoV-SbV material is more than 10 times as high as that of a Bi (CuAgGeSb2)O 7 thermal recording film and exceeds that of BV-MoV and BV-SbV materials. The Bi(CuaAgGeSb2)O 7 thermal recording film also shows high sensitivity to the interference by visible light but that of the BV-MoV-SbV material is low. The thermal response time is as fast as 10 microseconds. The response speed to various thermal pulses is
