

In this two-part studio bass lesson, legendary bassist Abraham Laboriel discusses and demonstrates the concepts that helped shape his iconic style. He explains how to find the best balance between improvisation and studio work. He shares the secrets of how to be calm and productive at any moment and with any situation, how to feel comfortable in the studio and be ready for any job. He will show you how to be free to do whatever your heart desires. You will learn to listen to music and play it the way Abraham did. In addition, you will learn how to turn your passion for music and learning bass techniques into a profitable business.
