Ejercicios Resueltos Del Libro De Niebel Muestreo De 374As coronavirus (COVID-19) spreads, infection and death rates are on the rise. An estimated 1.6 million people are infected worldwide, and the death toll is nearing 100,000. The need for medical help is acute, but the supply chain is starting to break down as the virus seeps into the medical sector. In an effort to speed up the production of personal protective equipment (PPE) for frontline health workers, the World Health Organization (WHO) is asking fabric manufacturers to "wake up the spigots" and join the cause. "The whole world's shipping ports are blocked, there are no trains or planes, all the roads are blocked. All the global mobility is stopped," says WHO director-general Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus. "We know that with some flexibility we can make a turnaround." Medicine is a cyclic industry and we know what we need in a Covid-19 pandemic, but we cannot just make what we need on short notice Ghebreyesus delivered his speech on Monday at the World Health Assembly (WHA) in Geneva, Switzerland. The WHA is the top United Nations body on global health. His call is for more countries to look to the manufacturing sector to scale up production for the healthcare sector, rather than wait until local industry has the capacity to manufacture and distribute enough supplies. One of the biggest problems in bringing medical supplies to market is the cyclic nature of the business. Medicine is a cycl c6a93da74d
